Epiphany and Metanoia

Summary: The Avengers are sent in quite a twist and confusion when they are sent clips of videos they've never seen before. And meeting them after. And what the heck is a Suicide Squad anyway? And who the hell is Amanda Waller? And the Joker? [Avengers watch Suicide Squad trailers].

Disclaimer: I do not own any of the following clips to be seen, they are owned by Warner Bros. I also don't own Marvel and Avengers; This is not a part of the TBAS series, this can be read as stand-alone, whichever you like. Currently two-shot, but will soon turn into multi-chaptered (at least 20 chapters) if there are many reviews, followers, favorites and when I finally get to watch Suicide Squad. Warning: this will be a polyamory (but it will not be obvious), but there will be some gore and disgusting scenes not to be in liking, there will be some changes along the way, but this will definitely show the Suicide Squad in later chapters, howeverm I will not be updating this as multi-chaptered yet, after I finished the two-shot, I will go back to the TBAS series, starting with Maschera di Ferro and will get back in this after I watched Suicide Squad which will be far away, OR, if I finished Maschera di Ferro early and update this. I'm just telling that this will be randomly updated to my liking so you will see this story update once in a while. However, unlike the TBAS series, this will not feature Pietro Maximoff, I'm sorry to those wanting Pietro in this story. I will not add him in this story.

Mid-AU, Crossover: This story will show the three trailers: Suicide Squad trailer #1, Suicide Squad Comic-Con First Look, and Suicide Squad Blitz trailer.

BONUS: If this story and Maschera di Ferro get many reviews, followers, and favorites as I said earlier, I might accept suggestions of Avengers watch _ trailer and add it randomly in my stories as a bonus chapter but it will not be connected to the story itself. You can make suggestions if you like, and I will put it in my book and inspect the trailer before I write and post it randomly. I might accept the Deadpool trailer, though, if I get a suggestion. However, I'm mainly focused for Maschera di Ferro as of now to update as many chapters as I can while I'm still in vacation and might update the suggestions quite later or it might pop sometime randomly.

>Suicide Squad is simply known as a squad developed by Amanda Waller, a woman full of greatness and power and a lack of guilt that made her transform super villains and antiheroes as superheroes. Amanda Waller developed Suicide Squad, also known as Task Force X to help the people of the country, and to help the country and its interests. And the villains were forced into a mission with a consequence, if they don't succeed fulfilling their task, they shall die from the micro-chip implants planted in their necks, however, if they shall succeed, they would regain their freedom and be pardoned from their mistakes.

The group consists of Harleen Quinzel aka Harley Quinn: a crazed pyschiatrist, Floyd Lawton aka Deadshot: a deadly and dangerous assassin, George "Digger" Harkness aka Captain Boomerang: a supervillain whose special skills are using boomerangs, hence the name, Chato Santana aka El Diablo: a former gangster who can summon flames, Waylon Jones aka Killer Croc: a supervillain who suffers from skin condition that causes him to develop reptilian features, Tatsu Yamashiro aka Katana: an expert martial artist and swordsman and also the guard of Rick Flag, and Rick Flag, a military officer who leads the group. However, June Moone aka Enchantress isn't a part of the group, she caught Amanda's interest and the unknown Joker.

>"So, whatdya call us for? It is 6:00 am for god's sake, give a man some sleep," Clint grumpily grumbled, rubbing his eyes tiredly as he glared at Fury, the man who called all of them from their respective rooms, it was a week after the aftermath of the Civil War after all, and all of them were goddamn exhausted and tired. Fortunately, the Civil War problem has been resolved by a day-long discussion between Tony's and Steve's side. They all settled for an agreement, and thankfully, everyone accepted the terms and conditions of SHRA, changing its conditions, and arresting General Ross and his goons for treason, sent off to a super secured advanced prison in somewhere.

Tony was happy clearly for the war to end, and it looks like Steve was also relieved that it ended, however, there are still tense relationships and some cannot talk clearly with others for guilt or anger, that being obvious with Tony avoiding Steve and Bucky like a plague whenever they are near him and immediately excusing himself to go to his workshop; Clint and Natasha, however, reconciled and sparred in the training room of the Avengers Tower.

The sad fact is, for Clint, is that Loki is staying with them, and Clint immediately lashed out when Loki appeared, getting his bow and arrows but was stopped by Natasha who simply explained to him, _"He's merely staying here because he was ordered to stay with Thor for he's banished from Asgard by their father, and Tony agreed whole-heartedly, even though we are still wary with his presence, learn to deal with it for awhile."_

Loki rolled his eyes and smirked to the afraid Wanda, red sparks flying around her in frustration because she can't access the god's mind and his look angered her even more because of the sentence he planted in her mind, "You think you can access my mind, foolish mortal? I'm a god, and you cannot and will not ever access my mind, I'm the god of tricks, after all, just because you can access Thor's foolish mind, you think you can control mine, too? Remember, I'm more powerful than you and your pathetic magic tricks."

Vision merely rubbed her back as he comforted her quite awkwardly, fuming silently and turned her head away. Loki immediately quieted himself and huffed when Tony shot him a look, causing Clint to look over them in suspicion, Bucky and Steve with jealousy, and Natasha with amusement. It seemed that Tony and Loki has a secret agreement and unspoken connection that they never knew of.

"I called all of you here because Hill caught an unfamiliar energy signature that seemed to appear nowhere earlier, and it revealed to show 1 case of clips and videos we never watched. It only has a messy writing Suicide Squad in red marks, and we have no idea absolutely of what it is, though I think I have my suspicion, but it's not clear yet," Fury explained, confusing them and they warily looked on the case, clearly alarmed at its surprising appearance.

"And there's a letter earlier I found, suggesting us to watch the clips to help us and explain things, so, basically, we need to watch these videos and get a better view of what will happen," Hill continued explaining, handing over the case to the waiting hand of Stark.

"Are you sure about this? Is this not a trick to get us?" Steve questioned skeptically, his eyebrow raised as he crossed his arms and Jane answered him,

"I assure you, it's not a trick because we examined the energy earlier, and it showed nothing suspicious and it is completely harmless. So, any furthermore questions?" Thankfully, no one asked anymore questions, and settled to sit over the comfortables bed-like seats in the Avengers common room. Tony sat next to Pepper and Rhodes, the further away from them, and Natasha sat next to Bruce and Clint, settling for the most comfortable couch. Jane sat next to Thor and Darcy and Loki sat the farthest away from them, but still can clearly see the huge screen of the Stark television.

"I'll pop the cd in!" Peter yelled excitedly, and took the case from Tony's hands, rushing towards the dvd player and popping the cd in, Pepper rolled her eyes but her smile was not unkind. They sat patiently, waiting for the video to open up.

A scene was shown in a fancy restaurant, three shadows inside, the glass windows illuminating a fancy light. "It's taken some work but I finally have them," _a woman says as the camera zooms inside the restaurant._

"Who are _them_? And specifically who is _she_?" Scott pointedly asked and the others seemed to have the same question as them. "Hey, do you know them?" T'Challa asked Fury, who merely arched his eyebrow and answered, "I don't have any idea," shocking the population, that's surprising, Fury not knowing them, since they were used to Fury knowing everything and everyone. Phil sighed quietly to himself, also wondering who the woman is, but it is clear that the woman is powerful, like Fury.

"The worst of the worst," _she continued and the three were seen eating, obviously government officials._

"You don't know them, Rhodey?" Pepper asked Rhodey, since he was connected to the military and government after all.

"I have no idea who the heck they are, and it's quite aggravating, since they're obviously government officials, and even Wilson doesn't know them." He looked towards Sam, who shook his head, shrugging his shoulders.

_The scene changed and a metal door opened, soldiers entering one by one. The woman was seen slicing her steak and the man beside her asks, _"Where?"

"Let's just say I put them in a hole and threw away the hole." _She said, she was seen completelyâ€” she has black hair, wearing an expensive blouse and an expensive pearl necklace dangling in her neck._

"Once again, who are they and what is she even talking about!" Clint flung his hands, aggravated that he didn't know who are they. And it seemed the others are in the same position as him, aggrieved and impatient. Steve nodded as he rubbed his head, like trouble and danger was clearly there.

_The scene changed once again and it shows a soldier in a prison, walking around, and it showed many soldiers beneath. _"There's rumors, Amanda, that some of them have, ah, abilities,"

"Finally! We got to know her name! Amanda!" Natasha sighed at the action of Clint, and smacked him softly in his head, irritated by his noise.

"Yeah, we've got abilities, but I'm sure, they're not talking about us, right?" Peter asked nervously, to which nobody answered, they also have no idea for that.

"Oh, yeah." _She replied. The scene changed and shows a lady walking around a dimly-lit cave, a helmet in her head, and a bag slung over her body._

"I have seen things, maybe Superman was some kind of beacon for them to creep back from the shadows." _The lady was shown, a flashlight stuck in her helmet, and her face looking curious and surprised as she walked nearer._

"Who the hell is Superman? And what kind of superhero name is that? And who is she, by the way? Another and another person we don't know about." Sam scoffed, crossing his arms and snorted at the name, but he was still curious and annoyed that all of them have no idea who the person was talking about.

_The scene changed and a jail door is opened as soldiers entered one by one with their guns. _"I want to assemble a task force of the most dangerous people on the planet."

"That's clearly us, but not us," Scott said, and Fury shook his head, he doesn't know anyone who talked with him about the Avengers, and clearly he doesn't recognize the woman in the screen.

"Who I think can do some good." _Her voice echoed as soldiers ran inside the cell._

"What?! Are they recruiting what I'm thinking?! Villains?!" Steve yelled incredulously and the others murmured in agreement, what the hell was the woman thinking. "Are you sure they're not Hydra?!"

"This place is clearly not in New York, or else, we have known about it already." Tony pointed out and Fury grumbled, incredibly aggrieved that they're recruiting villains and they're clearly not SHIELD.

"They're bad guys," _the man said rhetorically._

"See! I told you! Who are they?!" Scott asked, flailing around nervously, narrowing his eyes at the screen, tensing in a position of attack.

"Well we don't know!" Clint answered back, glaring at the screen.

"Exactly." _Amanda replied with a sharp tone_. "And if anything goes wrong, we have built-in deniability." _The scene changed and soldiers were seen entering a cage._

"What makes you think you can control them?"

"Because getting people to act against their own self interest is what I do for a living," _The soldiers entered and a cage was seen, a woman with blonde-white hair floating with a white cloth to help her keep steady._

"That's creepy," Wanda said, shivering as she saw the crazed-like woman who floated in the cage.

"The question is, why is she even in a cage?" Peter asked rhetorically, also shivering at the woman who appeared in the screen.

A song played 'I Started A Joke' and the woman was seen hanging upside down with the white cloth tied tightly in her legs, her arms was straight as she played with her hair.

All of them shivered involuntarily at the crazed look in the woman's face as it made her even creepy when the song started playing.

The scene changed and showed a man in an orange clothing flickering fire in front of the mirror. Tattoo covering his face as he blowed through his mouth, the fire flickered before being gone. The woman appeared again, holding her hand out as seeming like she touched the light.

"Are they the bad guys? They don't look like one," Loki uttered and smirked while Clint and Wanda glared at him.

A topless man was shown punching hardly in the punchbag inside his cell, sweat running from his face as he hold down the beige-colored punch bag. The woman played with her hair again upside down, the cage so big from the outside.

Wanda touched her head involuntarily, like a headache was coming, and the others shuddered secretly.

A man in a cage-like was strapped in a black belt and a tight brown mask covered his face.

"Are you the devil?" _the woman from earlier asked inside her cafe, finally in a stance and not upside down, looking towards the black woman from earlier, her hands clutching the metal cage. Amanda looked beneath and the face of the woman neared, her blonde-white hair messy and her eyes round, complimenting her white pale skin._

"I hate to admit, but she's kinda pretty, but crazy," Sam added to lighten the mood, earning a few chuckles and snorts, obviously lightening the tight atmosphere a bit.

Soldiers were seen fighting against something and the man from earlier walked with a woman beside him, christmas lights flickered in stores.

"All you need to know is you work for me." _The man wore a black suit now, white mask covering his face entirely, jumping from a building while holding a rope. People were seen fighting and a man tackling a woman in a dim room, an explosion blasted and a crazed man wearing a white robe is seen._

The man earlier appeared again for a bit and the adventurer from earlier was shown in a tub with grasses around her as she is succumbed in the black water, crying, behind her the white wall was graffitied with a star marked with black paint.

"That's dirty," Wanda scrunched her nose up in disgust, and Bruce winced quietly.

The scene changed and it showed around six people, including the man earlier with tattoos, a woman with a sword, a mask covering half of her face, and the crazed woman earlier is shown only wearing a shirt, leather jacket, and panty, a bat in her hands and her hair is in pigtails, one dyed in pink and one dyed in blue.

"Are they?" Bruce asked, but no one had the information to answer him so they simply shrugged and even Loki and Fury quirked an eyebrow in interest as they saw the destroyed city. Tony whistled quietly when he saw the woman, she was quite sexy, but Pepper groaned and whispered to Tony. Unbeknownst to them, Loki, Steve, and Bucky were silently cursing the woman.

"So that's it, huh?" _A man, clearly the leader walked with a rifle in his hand, soldier walking around and behind him._

"We're the patsies?" _the assassin said nonchalantly, and soldiers were seen walking around a building, holding out their guns and rifles._

"We're some kind of suicide squad." _Four people were seen, the man with tattoos, a man covered in beard, the crazed woman earlier, and a man with reptile-like features wearing a hoodie._

"So that's where the name came from, FRIDAY, make sure to log that in my private server, I will search for information around them after we finishing watching the clips," Tony muttered and Pepper sighed quietly.

"Done, sir."

"Let's go save the world," _he finished, walking as fire spread behind them and their leader._

"Where are we that time by the way? I never heard of an attack," Phil frowned and Fury had his critical eye on, "I also didn't know, I didn't received reports that a government recruited villains to save the world, and I don't even know who those are, they are not on the files of SHIELD database."

"That means they're out of this world? Another reality?" Clint asked incredulously and groaned when he earned a thoughtful look from Thor and surprisingly, Loki.

"I shall ask Allfather when I return to Asgard, however, I'm quite skeptical also because I haven't heard of another reality for a hundred years." Thor spoke up and Loki silently agreed to him, even he hadn't heard of another realm for centuries, because the realm before had been destroyed from war and plague, and they haven't discovered any other realms outside the universe.

Soldiers ran with their guns out and the assassin hugged a girl, and a woman with glasses was seen with a man in front of her, shoving her in the wall. The woman earlier hold onto a rope as she moved around. Helicopters were seen flying through the skies and soldiers running.

A man with reptile-like features appeared growling.

"What the hell?!" Scott exclaimed, immediately creeped out at the man who looked like a crocodile. Everyone shuddered and Wanda even widened her eyes while Vision rubbed her back comfortingly.

The woman used her bat like a gun and made a gunshot sound. A man costumed like a panda is seen barreling down his guns, shooting people.

"That's the first time I've ever seen anything like that." Darcy pointed out and gaped while Jane merely rolled her eyes at her.

A man in a bat-like costume is seen shooting down enemies as he walked. Soldiers run to an open area as an explosion caught their attention. A woman with the sword from earlier running down to join the fight. The assassin shot people.

"You're in so much trouble." _The woman said as she licked the metal pole from her cage._

"She's clearly crazy, ugh." Darcy fake gagged and even the others looked disgusted at the woman, some turning a little green at the gross sight.

The man with the beard leaned in the wall as the adventurer earlier walked, her hair a mess, and her face dirtied, a metal ring in her forehead and the scene changed to show the woman with the glasses strapped in a bed while a man hold her face.

The swordsman clutched her sword as she cried quietly, her eyes tightly shut and the crazed woman appeared again fighting a soldier inside her cage as the man fell. It changed to show her in a car in a much decent clothing and her hair in curls, the other side dyed in pink and the other in blue. She laughed maniacally as she grind her teeth. A red sports car drove as the man with the bat suit earlier clutched in the car.

"Everything's confusing me right now," Hill bluntly said and the Avengers nodded in agreement. Everything happened so fast.

"I hope you got insurance." _She laughed as she drove the car. The assassin was doused in water and fire engulfed somewhere, a burst of explosion and smoke covered an open area as she continued to laugh crazily and maniacally, biting her wet hair as she leaned in a wall. Soldiers walked as they fell._

The assassin is doused in water again as he rolled around, a man pushing him and a helicarrier-like plane crashed and rolled around, smoke covering it. The woman crashed herself against the cage and the assassin pointed his gun to a man.

No one could say anything, silence covering the entire place.

The woman is seen again, chewing a bubblegum as she popped it, leaning in a wall, her face dirtied with makeup as she placed her hands in her sides, putting her gun in her pocket.

"You know what they say about the crazy ones," _the man with the beard stated matter-of-factly._

The woman turned to look at him with a questioning look,_ "Huh?"_

"He's right." Natasha emphasized and gestured the screen.

A maniacal laugh emerged and a topless man is seen, tattoos covering him, a crazy look in his face as he hold two metal bars, his green hair giving so much creepiness as he looked crazier than the woman earlier.

"Oh, I'm not gonna kill ya." _He said smiling._

Wanda gagged and shook in fear, the man was truly disgusting the others seemed to agree so. Is this the villain?

"He looks crazier than the woman earlier." Thor spat out, glaring at the man in the screen.

The group again was seen as the man's voice echoed, his face zooming in looking maniacal and crazy and disturbing.

"I'm just gonna hurt you, really, really bad."

"Someone has to explain this before I really hurl something at someone."
